ABOUT

Mission

To provide our clients with the best custom packaging for their products built to their specifications, but also in a way that saves our clients both the time and energy to focus on their real goal - building their business.

At Akey Group, we have a deep understanding that packaging and logistic operations of your business can be both challenging and expensive. Especially with a smaller business that is trying to get started in a competitive market, finding the right packaging and branding for your product is key to making an impression on your target audience.

With our origins rooted in a smaller family-owned business, we possess a deep understanding of hurdles that emerges from upcoming businesses. That's why our purpose is to help overcome these common issues that businesses may face.

Focus

Quality: Our aim is to ensure high-quality product packaging and production with the help of our in-house specialists who oversee the entire process.

Customization: We offer customized packaging solutions to match your business image and encourage transparency by inviting clients to visit our facilities.

Efficiency: Our experienced and well-trained staff guarantees efficient production management and logistical support.

KEEP YOUR INGREDIENT FRESH WITH AIRLESS BOTTLES

Why Choose Airless Containers?

Here at Akey Group, we take great pride in our innovative approach to creating airless bottles and pump dispensers. Unlike conventional pump and dispensers that require air to pump product from the container, our airless pump and bottle designs do not.

This means that fewer manufacturing parts are required, and clients have easier access to the product within the container. Additionally, our airless design prevents cross-contamination of the product, making it a safer and more hygienic option for consumers.

We believe that our airless bottles and pump dispensers are the way forward in product packaging, providing a superior user experience while also being more environmentally friendly.

How Customizable Can We Get?

The company offers customization of the various pump and dispenser to the client's liking, this then will allow the containers to match their packaging, creating an aesthetically pleasing combination.

Akey Group provides assistance in finding the right combination of packaging and containers that will meet your needs. Whether using in-house designs or provided designs, the containers will help appeal the products even more.

With the help of Akey Group, you should be able to find the perfect container that will match your product and brand, using approved materials and proposed at an affordable price.
